EXPLANATORY NOTES FOR RETENTION AND GRADUATION

Graduation and retention rates are the result of many variables including academic performance, academic preparation, motivation, and academic integration. Other factors which seem to influence graduation and retention include part/full-time attendance, student age, family responsibilities, commuter/resident attendance, first-generation college attendance, socioeconomic status, employment, and indebtedness. The extent to which these factors combine and contribute to graduation and retention is not fully understood, but there is a considerable body of research which has documented the complexities of the issue.

Throughout recent history the graduation rate of students in the United States who enter a university as beginning freshmen and earn bachelor's degrees from that same university four to six years later is approximately 50 percent. A freshman class with higher average ability, motivation, preparation, greater full-time attendance, etc. will graduate at higher rates than that average. The reverse is also true.

However, there are no hard and fast prediction models. The intervening variables are numerous and interrelated. For example, high motivation certainly can overcome under-preparedness just as low motivation can negate high ability. Better academic preparation may be the result of high academic ability or the consequence of higher socioeconomic status and thus a more positive high school environment.

It is tempting to compare institution-wide graduation rates among universities without accounting for the makeup of the student body. The reader is cautioned not to make blanket comparisons, for example, in the graduation and retention rates provided in this Data Book for the University of Illinois campuses. The student bodies of the campuses are different, and thus comparisons among the three would parallel the proverbial apples-to-oranges relationship.

One other caveat should be emphasized: Retention data presented in this and in previous Data Books were gathered from several different studies, each employing a slightly different methodology. The footnotes section of each table describes the definitions used for that table.

Campus Enrollments

UIUC

HIGHLIGHTS

- During the past ten years, total enrollment on the Urbana campus numbered between 35,000 and 36,000 students. This fall, total enrollment reached 36,690, the highest point in the decade. Undergraduate students total 27,855, some 400 more than last year. Graduate enrollment increased during the early nineties to a peak of over 9,000 students, then decreased to 7,874 students in 1999. At 961 students, professional enrollment is just under the high point of 1995. See Table 42 and Figure 32.
- Last fall the number of new freshmen increased sharply and this fall shows an additional slight increase. New freshmen classes range from a low of 5,254 in 1989 to the high of 6,479 in 1999. See Table 43.
- Table 44 and Figure 34 show that fall 1999 undergraduate enrollment is higher in most colleges than it was both last year and ten years ago. Table 45 displays 1999 graduate enrollment by college by level by gender. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Engineering enroll the highest numbers of students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Figures 35-37 and Table 46 illustrate trends in enrollment by gender. Males continue to represent the majority of the undergraduate and graduate populations; however, the percentages have decreased steadily. While the ratio of males to females was nearly 5:4 in the professional student cohort nine years ago, the ratio has nearly reversed.
- The racial/ethnic diversity of the undergraduate student body increased significantly during the first half of the decade then declined a little after recent high years. Black and Hispanic students now represent 11 percent of the student body—over 12 percent of undergraduates, 9 percent of graduates, and 11 percent of professional students, — nearly half again the level of the late eighties. See Tables 47-48 and Figures 38-40.
- Table 49 and the maps in Figure 41 illustrate geographical origin. In-state students moved from 92.6 percent of all undergraduates in 1992 to 90.5 percent in 1999.

In October 1989, the American College Testing Program (ACT) introduced the Enhanced ACT Assessment. This test, usually taken by high school juniors and seniors, was similar but not identical to the previously used Assessment instrument. Because changes in the new test yielded differences in the scoring distribution, scores on the two tests are NOT interchangeable. ACT has published concordance tables which show scores on the former test to be equivalent to a higher score on the Enhanced Test. To convert the former score to an equivalent Enhanced score, the rule of thumb at the upper end is to add one (1) to the former test score and on the lower end to add anywhere from three to five points to the former score. Recent average scores for Illinois test takers are reported above in order to better compare the composite means.

¹ Both the U of I and Illinois 1990 test data include scores which were converted to the original ACT from Enhanced scores. Note: Totals may not equal 100.0% due to rounding.

Reported above are enrollments and mean cumulative grade point averages for the fall 1987 cohort of new transfers to UIUC. This cohort was tracked for three years after transfer.

In fall 1987, 741 students from community colleges transferred to UIUC entering with a mean cumulative GPA of 3.26. After one semester, the mean GPA for this cohort dropped to 2.72. At the end of four semesters, or two years after transfer, the mean GPA for this cohort had increased to 2.97.

In fall 1987, 466 students from four-year colleges and universities transferred to UIUC, entering with a mean cumulative GPA of 3.15. At the end of one semester, this cohort's mean GPA dropped to 2.86, a smaller decrease than experienced by the community college cohort. At the end of four semesters, or two years after transfer, the mean GPA for this cohort increased to 3.08.

Fall beginning freshmen include full-time freshmen entering in the summer preceding the fall term. The percentages in column "Year Two," and so on, reflect the percentage of students enrolled but not graduated during the second year, the cumulative percentage of degrees conferred through that year, and the retention for the second year -- the sum of enrolled and graduated students. These data might incur rounding error. This Data Book presents data revised from previous Data Books. The methodology follows that used to report statistics for the AAUDE Retention and Graduation Survey.

Year-to-year retention for the 1990 cohort is displayed in Figure 48 on the next page. Of those freshmen who entered UIUC in fall 1990, less than one percent were still enrolled and almost 79 percent had graduated after seven years, to yield a retention rate of 79.3 percent.

UIUC Beginning Freshmen
Retention Patterns for 1990 Cohort

Figure 48

At UIUC, the retention rate of women is higher than for men, 80.3 percent and 74.7 percent respectively with the 1994 cohort. Both men and women show a decrease in retention over the recent cohorts for which five-year data are available.

Fall new transfers include full-time transfers entering in the fall term. Summer degrees are counted with the previous spring. The percentages in column "Year Two," and so on, reflect the percentage of students enrolled (those who did not graduate and did not drop out) during the second year and the cumulative percentage of degrees conferred through the second year. Retention for the second year is the sum of enrolled and graduated students. These data might incur rounding errors.

The above tables report cumulative enrollment, graduation, and retention rates for community college and four-year transfers who matriculated to UIUC in fall 1987. This cohort was tracked for three years after transfer.

In fall 1987, 741 new students transferred from community colleges to UIUC. Of that initial cohort, 508 students graduated after six semesters, representing a graduation rate of 68.6 percent. From four-year colleges 466 new students transferred to UIUC and 319 (68.5 percent) graduated after three years. Compared to beginning freshmen five years after matriculation, transfer cohorts graduate at slightly lower rates but are still enrolled at slightly higher rates.
